

MICHIGAN GRAND HAVEN RESORT

Grand Haven Resort is just minutes from Lake Michigan

You don't have to love all things water, but it helps when staying at Grand Haven Resort, which is just minutes from Lake Michigan and downtown Grand Haven, Michigan. In August 2013, CNN Travel named Grand Haven as its No. 14 "Must See U.S. Beach" alongside Siesta Key in Florida, South Padre Island in Texas, and Papakolea Beach in Hawaii.

"The biggest draw to Grand Haven Resort is the location," says Communications Director Deanna Campbell. "We're close to the city of Grand Haven and the shores of Lake Michigan, which has a nice beach and even has a beach designated for dogs. Even though it's so close to the city, the resort is very wooded."

But enough about what's outside Grand Haven Resort. The resort is filled with beautiful scenery—from the expanse of pine and maple trees that line the campsites, to the breathtaking color change that happens every fall. It's one of the newest resorts in the Outdoor Adventures Inc. stable of great resorts and this one has one of the best locations.

Once onsite, visitors will notice there's lots of character and history to the park. Check out the amazing miniature golf course, plus two pools and a large playground. The resort is definitely family oriented.

Tap into your inner race car driver at the go-cart track. For those who just want to relax, you're more than welcome to sunbathe alongside the pool.

The nearby town of Grand Haven is an active beach resort with boating, fishing, sailing, biking, and skating. The city has more than 100 miles of bike trails, a state beach, boardwalk, two lighthouses, a pier, wharf and large charter fishing fleet. It's also home to the annual Coast Guard Festival, which draws U.S. and Canadian vessels along with parades of bands and other activities.
